TAKE IT IN TIME

Just as Scores of Norway People Have.

Waiting doesn't pay.

If you neglect kidney backache,

Urinary troubles often follow.

Act in time by curing the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for weakened kidneys.

Many people in this locality recommend them.

Here's one case:

John C. Ripley, the well-known blacksmith, Oxford St., South Paris, Me.,

says: "I was quite miserable for several months with an attack of kidney trouble. I had pains through the small of my back and my kidneys didn't act regularly. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me in a remarkably short time."

Over two years later, Mr. Ripley said:

"I have had little occasion to worry about my kidneys since I used Doan's

Kidney Pills."

OUR LEADING MEN.

With quill inspired, with brilliant golden pen, I'd write a tribute to our leading men. But it is hard to know just who they are. Or where they're leading us—how far, I feel extremely doubtful what to say about them in an eulogizing way.

Who are our leading men—our millionaires, With fortunes built on broken hearts, and prayers Of brothers, perishing that these may live Our leading men?—I'd give a great reward to give These vainly fasting on the Nation's breast— They're surely not our wisest men, nor best.

Is it our politicians? Do they lead? Our whole great nation in the path of greed? Or do we rush ahead to get the graft And then give them their portion with a laugh? In politics, our leaders now are found. Our nation has indeed a deadly wound.

I'd turn me to the clergy if I could, In search of leaders for their talk sounds good; But 'gainst want and war and ignorance and wars They've done so little in the hundreds' years Of past, that I don't think it worth to read. They're not our leading men—ah, no indeed!

And yet our need of leaders is so deep, The Nation hables of them in her sleep. Asleep she lays and dreams as widows may, Of many streets to learn on thro' the day. God send her dreams, come true with haste And speed, I'd give a great reward to give These vainly fasting on the Nation's breast— They're surely not our wisest men, nor best.

Let's awake too soon, and feel her need.

The President a Singer.
Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President has disclosed to the world that her father is a cultured tenor singer. "He has a beautiful voice," she said. "It is really of fine quality, but he has not sung professionally, except in a male quartette in college." Miss Wilson, who is a public professional singer, recently told a Cleveland paper: "I prefer an artistic to that of a social career, my sole ambition in life is to sing. Society isn't a career. My earliest recollection is that music appealed to me. When we were thoughtfully poor my parents engaged a cultured German governess. We could not afford a piano, but she sat at an old organ and sang German lieder to us by the hour. I often think of it when I am singing. I wish I could create such absolute atmosphere for every song she did as I looked and listened, amused and delighted."

There's more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it, have pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A BALLAD OF BUDDHA.

Who is the woman that cometh
Where the Buddha sits at rest,
Sobbing the while she beareth
Her dead child on her breast?

"Help me!"—the cry of her anguish;
"Help me, Enlightened One!
Hast thou the power and the mercy
To give me back my son?"

Answers the Buddha kindly,
"Why grieve, it shall pass away,
And thy son shall be thine no more,
And thy night be turned to day;

"Bring me the seed of mustard;
Though but a single seed,
If it comes from the place appointed,
That shall be all we need."

"What is the place appointed?
Tell me, Enlightened One,
Where shall I find the mustard
That will give me back my son?"

Answers the Buddha kindly,
"In hovel or hall of pride
Where never a wife or husband
Or parent or son has died."

Searching the woman wanders
Afar on her eager quest
For the seed that will soothe and banish
The pain that gnaws her breast.

But in every home she enters,
Or hovel or hall of pride,
There are hearts bowed down in sorrow
For loved ones who have died.

Their sorrow calls for service;
And the while she tarries there
She lifts a bit the burden
That comes with grief and care.

Then lo! her search is ended;
Her night becomes the day;
For in the grief of others
Her own has passed away.

YOUTH'S Companion

MULE-FOOT COLONY.

"Pigs is Pigs," to be sure, but there is a difference. If anyone doubts this, he can visit Greenwood Villa Farm in Harrison, and become acquainted with an entirely different variety from the common, every day kind of pig. A most delightful morning was passed there recently by the writer and others, calling at the farm, formerly the home of Hon. Philander T. Tolman, where a most modern pig-breeding establishment, under the direction of his granddaughter, Miss Laura Tolman, of Winchester, Mass.

Miss Tolman is much interested in the mule foot variety, but somehow you forget that you came to see a modern farm when you meet the fair proprietor, for she is most charming and talented, a dainty, womanly type, and you feel you would like to talk with her about almost anything but pigs. You enjoy sitting in the old-fashioned parlor, with the view of Long Lake in the distance, and looking over her collection of photos of noted singers, or foreign scenes, and hearing of her life as a musician, when she toured the country as a brilliant solo player and won many laurels. But after a little you find that here is one of the many instances when an accident has interfered temporarily with a brilliant career, for the little lady tells us of a fall from a platform one night after a concert and of an injury which compelled her to give up her music for a few years. Her active mind required some employment and she first began to raise mushrooms, and made quite a success of it, too. But she has always been fond of animals—she will tell you about her noble St. Bernard dog—and she happened to hear of this new breed of pigs, the mule foot, which was being raised so successfully abroad. The more she read, the more interested she became, and feeling that the outdoor life would be beneficial, decided to come down to her grandfather's farm in Harrison, and experiment.

Of course she couldn't do this alone, so she was most fortunate in obtaining as manager of the farm, Deatur Faw, a colored man who is most proficient in carrying out the various arrangements necessary for raising the proper family of pigs and for generally superintending the farm. He is from Tennessee, the son of a federal soldier in the Civil War; but Colorado is evidently the theatre of his agricultural labors, in which he seems surprisingly proficient.

A short distance north from Greenwood Villa, across the road, one crosses through a grove of trees and enters the long building where some of the pigs are kept. The families have separate pens, and you discover they have names, also, for Miss Tolman addresses them as Anthony and Cleopatra, Alice, Constance, and by other familiar names. You at once remark on the cleanliness of the place, and are told that pigs are naturally neat if they are only kept so. Miss Tolman believes that any animal will respond to training, that if you treat one with kindness and begin to train them early enough, you can bring about wonderful results. And the collection of mule feet certainly bears out her statement for they are most interesting, from the big ones, some of which weigh 225 pounds, to the little ones of three weeks of age. The name is from the fact that the tiny hoof is different from the pig of this country, and resembles a mule's foot. It is claimed that this breed has various points of superiority, being cholera immune, the pork sweeter and better, and being unexcelled breeders. In color they are black and a group of mule feet and little ones is most interesting to watch.

Passing out of the long pen, we cross a bridge over a ravine and come into a large yard where hogs and pigs of all sizes are having their times of their lives. They are friendly creatures and gather round for a rub on the back or nose around to be petted. The little clan of the party found a great fascination in their funny tails, which he delighted in grasping, until restrained from so doing.

A spring nearby has been piped for the necessary water and a cook house is being built over this for preparing and heating the food. A shelter is also built in the yard for cold weather.

Large areas of the farm are planted to different kinds of food, many varieties unknown in this vicinity. Immense sugar beets and enormous ears of yellow corn are raised, the latter being used more particularly for the poultry. Federettes, which look like corn, and is a product of Egypt, is also raised here. This device is fit to be and looks very much like corn. Four acres are planted to yellow corn and sugar beets.

Miss Tolman has had many visitors to see her farm and to investigate regarding this new kind of pig. It is her hope that the Maine farmers may become interested to such an extent that the breed may be introduced in this State. She is Vice President of a corporation devoted to the mule-foot breed of Swine, having its home office in Colorado with branches in several of the states.—Bridgton News.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when it is ebbing, when strength is declining, when the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamlike sleep, irritability and unless corrected, it leads straight to a breakdown.

Correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and the blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing force. It is free from alcohol.

RELIEVES THE WORST CASES OF CATARRH

Think "Hymel the Most Wonderful Treatment for Catarrh Ever Discovered."

Do not try to cure catarrh by using sprays or lotions; it cannot be cured in this manner. The only way in which this too common disease can be fully relieved is through a direct application to the affected parts that will kill the bacilli of catarrh and prevent their growth.

Breathing the air of Hymel is the only known method of treatment that can really accomplish this. It is the simplest, most pleasant and probably the most reliable treatment for catarrh that has ever been discovered.

The complete Hymel outfit is inexpensive and consists of an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hymel to last several weeks. This will effect instant relief in ordinary cases, but for chronic and deep-seated cases of catarrh, longer use may be necessary, and then an extra bottle of Hymel can be obtained for a trifling sum. It is not alone the best (it might be called the only) method of treating catarrh, but it is also the most economical.

The Noyes Drug Store has so much confidence in the power of Hymel to relieve catarrh, that they will for a limited time, sell this medicine under their personal guarantee to refund the money if the purchaser can say that it did not benefit.

Signs of worms are: De-pressed stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional griping and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Requests to Bridgton.

By the will of the late Clara Fogg, which has been made public, two bequests are made which are of special interest. After providing for a number of relatives she gives to the first Universalist society of Bridgton her homestead premises located on Main street, the society to use the same as a parsonage for its minister, if desired. If it is not wanted for a parsonage, it may be used for other purposes and the income devoted to paying the salary of the preacher. In case preaching services are discontinued at this church for three consecutive years the premises are forfeited by the society and revert to the heirs of Miss Fogg. A double tenement house on Main street, just below the homestead premises, is bequeathed to Winburn M. Staples, Edward S. Abbott and Herbert Lombard as trustees, who are to hold and manage this property and any income that may be derived from it. At any time within 20 years the trustees

CARRY STOMACH JOY IN YOUR VEST POCKET

The Noyes Drug Store Has Such Faith in this Dyspepsia Remedy that They Guarantee It.

One of the greatest successes in the sale of medicine has been achieved by Mi-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy, and its sale is increasing so rapidly that the Noyes Drug Store, the popular drug store, has hard work to keep a stock on hand. It is very popular with bankers, ministers, lawyers and others whose business or profession keeps them closely confined, while those who have brought on indigestion through irregular eating, worry, or other causes, have found relief in this reliable remedy.

Mi-o-na comes in tablet form and is sold in a metal box especially designed for convenience in carrying the medicine in the pocket or purse. It is pleasant to take, gives quick relief and should help any case, no matter how long a standing. This remedy has been so uniformly successful that The Noyes Drug Store will in future sell Mi-o-na under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it should not prove entirely satisfactory.

may establish the property as a hospital, being authorized to form a corporation for this purpose. If the trustees choose, they may sell the property and turn the proceeds over to the corporation thus formed, to be used for "hospital purposes," according to the judgement of the members of the corporation. Miss Fogg requests that no bond be required from the trustees.

In making this request Miss Fogg realized that the fund to be thus derived would be insufficient, but she expresses the hope that it may form the nucleus of a large fund.

Miss Fogg also gives to the Eureka club, which is the Masonic club, the building which was the first home of the library in this village, together with the grounds for a term of 20 years but no longer. During this period the property must be kept in good condition and insured by the club. At the end of 20 years the property goes to the trustees, who have the authority to sell it, the proceeds going to the hospital corporation, if such be formed. Another bequest of the sum of $300 to Endora Lodge of Rebekahs, the income to be devoted to the care of the sick. Provision is also made for the erection of a monument in the family burying grounds.

EAST SWEDEN.

More men have been put on the force and Mr. Bishop's barn is being rushed towards completion.

Very few in this section have been lucky enough to get a deer thus far, but are hoping for better luck later on. This is an off year for apples in this part of the town, some not having enough for their own use through the winter. Daniel J. Adams reports about twelve barrels. This is the largest lot we think raised in this neighborhood this year. Potatoes also are in the not plenty list, hardly any one getting more than one-half a crop.

Frank Dawson and wife of Highland Park, Fryeburg, visited at O. H. Haskell's last week.

Maine Receives $5500.

The general education board, one of John D. Rockefeller's philanthropy enterprises, announced that it had made grants totalling $375,000 to four colleges and had provided the funds for a number of novel experiments in the field of education.

The gifts are: Carlton college, Northfield, Minn., a Congregational institution, $100,000; Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., Episcopal, $50,000; Lafayette college, Easton, Pa., Presbyterian, $200,000, and Kalamazoo college, Kalamazoo, Mich., Baptist, $25,000.

The board has appropriated $5500 to the department of education of Maine for the promotion of rural education along the lines encouraged by the board in southern states and $5000 to the New Hampshire superintendent of education to organize a bureau for the critical study of school processes.

The proposed study of the Gary system is undertaken in order that a complete and authoritative account of this most interesting and important development in school work may be available to other communities that would like to try it, but have not the time or facilities to investigate it.

One of the most important undertakings will be the study of training of teachers for rural schools. Most of the training of school teachers up to this time has been the kind that attracts them to city schools with the result that they are improperly equipped for country schools where agricultural and domestic pursuits are of more importance. Minnesota has developed distinctly novel and successful methods of procedure in dealing with this problem and it is the purpose to have the results of the experience in this state placed before the country.

Corn Limpers! Use "Gets-It" and Smile!

Corns Come Right Off, Clean and Quick! You Needn't Limp, or Fuss With Your Corns Any More!

What's the use of spoiling a good time for yourself by limping around with those corns? It's one of the easiest things in the world, now, to get rid of them. "Gets-It" does it.

"Those Corns Come Right Off, Clean As a Whistle, by Using 'Gets-It'."

the new war. That's why "Gets-It" has become the corn remedy of America, the biggest selling corn remedy in the world, preferred by millions. Do you remember that toe-eating salve you tried that sticky tape, that toe-bundling bandage, the gouging you've done with knives, razors and scissors? Well now, forget them all. No more fussing, no more pain. Whenever you use simple, easy "Gets-It," the corn is doomed, sure. So is every callus, wart or bunion. Never cut corns, or calluses, it makes them grow that much faster and increases the danger of blood poisoning. No cutting is necessary by using "Gets-It." Use it tonight and end your corn existence.

"Gets-It" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.
